

August 2002

Mayor Thomas M. Menino and the citizens of BOSTON

welcome you and your passengers to our city.

Boston's historic sites and neighborhoods, cultural institutions, nightlife and thriving waterfront combine to make it one of the most exciting cities in the nation in which to live, work and visit.

This city is unique for its vibrancy and character. Its winding narrow streets, historic monuments and green spaces are integrated with modern commercial buildings and closely-knit residential districts. Once you arrive in Boston, walking and public transportation are the most convenient ways to get around. Use of this map will help to maintain the unique characteristics of Boston's diverse neighborhoods and help to ensure pedestrian safety.

As Transportation Commissioner of the City of Boston, I am pleased to present this summary of Tour Bus Parking Guidelines. The map is designed to help tour operators travel between destinations quickly and efficiently. Locations around the city for drop-off/pick-up and for long-term bus parking, are identified on the map to assist in the planning and execution of your tour. If you require additional information, please contact the Boston Transportation Department at 617-635-4680 and my staff will be happy to assist you.

Thank you for choosing Boston as your destination. We appreciate your cooperation in helping keep visitors and local residents alike safe throughout the streets of Boston.

Sincerely,

Andrea d'Amato

Commissioner of Transportation and Chief of Environmental Services
